“ We always enjoyed the visits back in the old days when we were all much younger and everyone alive and well. We would gather at Aunt Ada's home with the rest of family and cousins, with Ann and Jerry present. Aunt Ada, my mother's oldest sister, was a great cook and always prepared a feast it seemed like with many fresh garden vegetables, meats, desserts, sweet tea. You didn't leave her house hungry. Most of the ladies back then were all great cooks, but not many left these days. We enjoyed running around outside, laughing, taking pictures, and listening to words of wisdom from the older ones. Good memories you keep in your heart always.
Love and sympathy to the family,
