“Dave became a true friend in the aftermath of Katrina. He and his son worked together to install my air conditioning unit. This was the last time they worked together before Dave’s son was killed in a tragic auto accident. The son etched every date inside the units that he and his father worked on. Dave took excellent care of all my electrical needs and would spend some time pondering the date his son recorded. Dave was a very special man who brought a little sunlight into the lives of all he met. I’ll miss him.

“ I met david during the Katrina recovery on the gulf coast. He became my friend first and foremost. He and I proved housing and assisted in the rebuild of Biloxi and Gulfport. He became family and we worked closely together at times even sharing a place to sleep till the next morning of work to rebuild. He always spoke of his family. We continued our friendship after Kitrina and kept in touch monthly until 3 weeks ago of which we talked and as normal he was reading in his spare time. He continued to read the BIG book. He was ready, but left me here. He was so kind and loved life and adored his family, kids, and grand kids of which I heard some of the stories. He loved working with his sons and was proud, oh so proud of all of his children. He was not scared to do the right thing. What an awesome man. I had hoped to meet with him again in my annual cross country travel next week. I'm glad he did not wait for me as our last conversation David was in traumatic pain, and still reading the book. The book was not just something he just picked up with undesirable news, it was The Book he tried to live the best humanly way as a human with the joke of being human. I will always recall on Mr. Goad and his family stories. I want the family to know my prayers for your comfort is in my prayers and so many that David's life touched. He always made me smile, as well all others we met. I will miss him greatly with my time here and hope we can reconnect on the dark side of the moon. God bless you David and the recovery of all family and friends you touched left here with only memories of my great friend. Thanks David and see ya on a Roof again with Tim? All in Love my friend.
