“ I would ride with Johnny, during work hours, every chance I got... asking questions about our work.... why are we doing this?...why are we doing that?... how far is this supposed to be off the rode?..... why are these signs positioned like this?.... how far from the bridge do we put this type of sign?.... Why are these signs this color?... why are those signs that color?..... I would have my notepad out writing as fast as he could talk.....and he always had the answer. He taught me so much. After he retired and I moved up through MDOT, I would still call him with questions about how to correctly do something and as always.... he was there with the answer. To me he was a great man, a great teacher and a great friend. I will miss him very much. Bill Adams.....
