On Monday, August 21, Susan Rogers Kinton experienced ultimate healing as her faith became sight. Susan was married to and survived by her husband of 53 years, Tony. They enjoyed many adventures together with camping and canoeing being some of their fondest memories.

Susan lived to know Jesus better and to make Him known. She was an active member of Trinity Baptist Church where she taught Sunday School and Bible drills. Even during her final days, she continued to minister to others.

Susan was also survived by her brother Dale Rogers, her sisters-in-law Penny Neese Rogers and Brenda Kinton Burdine, her brother-in-law Robert Burdine, her nieces Stephanie Burdine King (Joey), Lana Rogers Pennington (Jack), Lori Rogers Wilcher (Jimmy), her nephew Kint Burdine (Ashley), and her great nieces and nephews: Alex Wilcher, Bo Wilcher, Grant Wilcher, Ashton Wilcher, Ella Wilcher, London Wilcher, Ford Pennington, Ethan Pennington, and Carson King.

Susan was preceded in death by her parents Morris Junior Rogers and Frances Jones Rogers.

“ As I think of the saints who influenced my life and my ministry, my sweet cousin, Susan Rogers Kinton, ranks among the top. She always had a special way of encouraging me, even after the many times I have blown it. Without compromising her beliefs she could comfort, console, discipline, and advise me in her special way. My life is better because she was a part of it. For that I am grateful and always will be thankful to Lord we share as our Savior. Not only was my life better, but the world she influenced was better because of her. Til we meet again...

“ The sweetest Christian lady I know. She could love with her eyes. She always said " the right thing" just what you needed to hear. We talked a little of her love for Elvis. I enjoyed having the opportunity to share his gospel music with her a couple of weeks ago. I am praising our God that she has no more pain. Susan was a 'JOY'.
